

Bio for Pamela Greenewald updated March, 2014

Angel Gardens is a rose nursery which grows close to 2000 varieties of roses on their Own Roots in Alachua, Florida. It is one of only 4 commercial rose nurseries in the entire world that grows roses 100% Organically. As a passionate collector of all classes of roses, owner Pamela Greenewald specializes in the Antique, Old and Rare varieties that are in danger of disappearing. Her favorites are the Teas, Chinas, Noisettes, Bourbons, Polyanthas, Hybrid Musks, Climbers and many rare shrub roses. She also grows non-patented David Austin English roses as well as modern roses from Weeks, Delbard, Kordes, Ben Williams, and George MacPhail's roses from as far away as Nova Scotia. The nursery is one of the largest in the Southeast and ships roses all over the world. Many rare roses have also been imported from France, the UK and Germany.

Pamela is dedicated to promoting and spreading the Good News for the best Organic methods of growing healthy vibrant roses, while protecting ourselves and our environment. She demonstrates just how easy roses may be grown even in Florida's heat and humidity. She is also the Good Earth Chairwoman for the ARS providing an article on organic rose growing for each issue.

Pamela is an active Board member of the Heritage Roses Group and a partner member of the Heritage Rose Foundation. She founded the North Central Florida Heritage Roses Group which planted and maintains an organic rose garden at Haven Hospice in Gainesville since 2009. She is a member of the Jacksonville Rose Society as well as the Orlando Area Heritage Rose Society. Angel Gardens has been a rose nursery since 2006 and before that it was a Garden Boutique since 1991 located on 441 on the edge of Gainesville.

Recently Pamela established a new non-profit 501c(3) called Rose Garden Angels, Inc. whose mission is to use horticulture therapy to grow roses with Veterans suffering from PTSD and also with at-risk youth. The "Old Garden Rose Co." is the wholesale wing of Angel Gardens where all profits go back into supporting the programs of the non-profit.
